

Future Health Care Executives

Tomorrow's Leaders in Health

About Us

Future Health Care Executives is the largest student organization in the College of Applied Health Sciences. We are a professional club for University of Illinois Students looking to pursue a career in specifically health administration, however, our club structure allows for a diverse range of majors and careers paths. Throughout the year, we reach out to local and regional health care systems who provide us with guest speakers ranging in a variety of different health fields. We feel providing experiences and opportunities for students devoted to pursuing a career in healthcare is extremely important, because we truly are "tomorrows leaders in health".

Mission Statement: To aid members in furthering their knowledge and exposure to the health care field through guest speakers and networking, thus ultimately becoming adequately prepared for a career in health care.
